OSU Extension’s Women in Agriculture Program invites women to the “Women & Chainsaws- Operating Chainsaws Safely” workshop on April 28 at the Ashtabula County Extension office in Jefferson, Ohio. This class will feature Lee Beers (Extension Educator in Trumbull County) who will teach the basics of chainsaws.

Chainsaws are a vital “tool” for farms. Learn the basics of handling, operating and maintaining chainsaw. Learn the safety equipment which should be used and learn the basics of felling and bucking a tree. Be safe as you and your family cut firewood and maintain your property lines. Safety gear raffle will be included.

Pre-registration is requested by April 20th to ensure minimum numbers. Cost for the class is $15/person. We will be outside for demonstrations, so please dress according. Please complete the following registration form and return to OSU Extension – Ashtabula County, 39 Wall Street, Jefferson, Ohio. Make checks payable to OSU Extension.
